Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Address of the Friends of Domestic Industry: Assembled in Convention, at New-York, October 26, 1831, to the People of the United States Fellow-Citizens - A numerous delegation from several states in the Union have convened in the city of New York representing great national interests which they are anxious, by the most efficient but peaceable means, to defend and support. In addressing themselves to the people of the United States, they invoke their candid attention to several topics of great national importance, without assuming any authority ultimately to decide them; conscious that their reasonings and opinions can have, and ought to have, no other influence or force than belongs to their truth and soundness. A system of laws imposing duties for the encouragement and protection of domestic industry, upon the faith of which a large portion of the people of this country have invested their property and given a new direction to their labour, and with a continuance of which are completely identified all their hopes of maintenance for themselves and their families, has been...
