Not illustrated. 1880 Excerpt: .to-day that Kansas and the country would have been filled with slaves. The letter follows the speech of Col. Anthony elsewhere given. ADDRESS BY REV. DR. CORDLEY. Gov. Robinson: We have with us this afternoon one who has been here so long that memory scarcely goes to the contrary, our old Congregational minister, Dr. Richard Cordley. Dr. Cordley said: Ladies and Gentlemen: I have no speech to make, but the Governor insists on my saying a few words; and in that olden time of which we are speaking, we all obeyed the word of Governor Robinson as the law of the land. I thought it needless that I should speak, for I made my speech here in Lawrence years ago. My speech was eighteen years long, and was delivered from the pulpit of the Plymouth Church across the river, the pulpit which was graced and honored last Sabbath by the presence of our distinguished visitor, New England s honored son, the author of Ten Times One Is Ten, a sentiment fitly illustrated in the twenty-five years history we commemorate to-day. Then I hardly feel like intruding among the scarred heroes who have appeared on this platform. I have no special tales to tell or special claim to make. I am not from Pennsylvania, like so many who have spoken, and I never marched with the Douglas Democrats when they saved Kansas and the Union. I am not from Ohio, like so many others, and so I...
